DEEP INTO LEVIATHAN TERRITORY

During the winter, Baja becomes a Cetacean Hub for a variety of whale species that choose the warm Mexican waters as their mating and nursing grounds.

Seventy tons in weight, the majestic blue whale is the largest creature ever to roam our planet while the charismatic gray whale undertakes the longest and most enduring migration in the animal kingdom.

The gray whale often seeks human interaction within the only three bays in the world where they give birth to their young.

The playful humpback whale offers a breaching spectacle as the sun sets in the most southern tip of the Peninsula.

There is no greater way to explore Baja than by following these gentle giants during their most significant life chapter.

JORGE CERVERA HAUSER

EXPEDITION LEADER

YOUR HOST

Underwater photographer, award-winning film producer and eco-tourism activist, Jorge has been sharing his love for the ocean and its creatures for the past decade. Through non-profit Pelagic Life he worked hand in hand with fishing communities in Baja to develop open ocean tourism as an alternative to fishing, and produced the award winning documentary film México Pelágico.

As the Founder and early CEO of Pelagic Fleet, Jorge envisioned, designed, and led the refit of the Socorro Vortex, a 140ft diving vessel and one of the toughest and most ambitious luxury liveboards out there.

As an underwater photographer Jorge has documented unique, never before seen marine behavior. Swimming along orcas while they hunt pelagic rays in the Sea of Cortez, lurking amongst crocodiles and anacondas alike, or freediving with great white sharks in Guadalupe Island are only some of the moments that Jorge captures in his breathtaking photographs. His work has been featured by National Geographic, Wired, Ocean Geographic, Apple and Samsung campaigns, among many others.
