COME DOWN AND CHUM SOME OF THIS SHIT

If you've seen the movie Jaws, then you'd agree that Martin Brody had every right to be unhappy about chumming and we want to improve that experience for you. Indeed, it is almost impossible to encounter certain sharks without a proper dead fish soup, plus keep in mind that you might spend 6 hours under the sun bearing the latest rotten fish oil cologne and not see a thing.

If you are a shark buff, we have curated a unique trip like no other with all its focus on Baja, its land, the ocean and most importantly – sharks.

In Cabo, a second boat will take care of the chumming while we go out on an ocean safari on board a brand new 35ft Everglades to look for pelagic wildlife. As soon as the chumming team spots sharks in the area, they will contact us so we can catch up and jump in. We will then move to Cabo Pulmo for some scuba diving and bull shark action. North to La Paz we will take a break from toothy sharks to zen into Espiritu Santo Island with its unique beaches and landscapes. Upon arrival, we will jump in with a sea lion colony and whale sharks (when in season), as well as freedive at a couple of wrecks. Lastly, we will travel back in time and drive north to the Pacific side of the peninsula where we will repeat the chumming logistics on two boats. Here, we have supported local operators for the past 10 years and even though the boats are not as fancy, the local and adventurous experience overcomes everything else.

YOUR HOST

Underwater photographer, award-winning film producer and eco-tourism activist, Jorge has been sharing his love for the ocean and its creatures for the past decade. Through non-profit Pelagic Life he worked hand in hand with fishing communities in Baja to develop open ocean tourism as an alternative to fishing, and produced the award winning documentary film México Pelágico.

As the Founder and early CEO of Pelagic Fleet, Jorge envisioned, designed, and led the refit of the Socorro Vortex, a 140ft diving vessel and one of the toughest and most ambitious luxury liveboards out there.

As an underwater photographer Jorge has documented unique, never before seen marine behavior. Swimming along orcas while they hunt pelagic rays in the Sea of Cortez, lurking amongst crocodiles and anacondas alike, or freediving with great white sharks in Guadalupe Island are only some of the moments that Jorge captures in his breathtaking photographs. His work has been featured by National Geographic, Wired, Ocean Geographic, Apple and Samsung campaigns, among many others.
